A Glance Backward and a Look Forward

It's hard to believe 2015 is nearing its end. It's been a busy, rewarding year for Wehr and Friends of Wehr. We've accomplished a lot and seen some changes. The exterior of the building is looking years younger with a fresh coat of paint. The amphitheater once again looks inviting thanks to the Friends of Wehr and our many wonderful donors. We welcomed back Howard Aprill and wished happy retirement to Pat Fojut.

In summer of 2015, we partnered with Milwaukee Public Schools and conducted a special program for 5th graders. These students had very little experience in nature but with the help of our new Digital Observation Technology Skills Kits, a whole new world was opened up for them. Then at their final visit, they learned about invasive species and put their knowledge to practical use pulling buckthorn from our woodlands.

Our natural areas restoration projects have never looked better. The open oak woodland sported incredible spring ephemerals and the old oak trees look healthier than they have in years. Not to be outdone, the prairie areas by the building were breathtaking in summer flower finery. Wehr is truly lucky to have such special natural areas to share with all our visitors.

New computers came to the Center in June, just in time for the piloting of our new computerized volunteer management system, Volgistics. After lots of training and hard work by staff and volunteers, the system went live in September. Next was a new on-line version of our school field trip offerings. Even if you don't need to book a field trip, take a look at it on the FOW website, www.friendsofwehr.org. It looks great and highlights the many programs available to interest students of all ages.

Thank you for a great year and all your generous support. We couldn't do this without you! We can all look forward with anticipation to a year rich with excitement and growth in 2016. See you at Wehr. — Deb McRae

A Solutions to the Christmas Shopping Dilemma

It's that time of year – Christmas Shopping Season. I really get into it, but I have the same problem you all do. I want to give meaningful gifts that are special for the people I am giving to. My yearly dilemma is to find a gift for those who don't need any "thing" or have everything they want or need. These folks don't need another tie or crockpot! This goes for children too. (My grandchildren have more toys than they know what to do with!)

The Friends of Wehr have lots of options for gifts to give to those with everything and that won't clutter up the house. Gift memberships provide year-long opportunities to exercise, learn new things, and just get out into nature. Donating a plank to the board walk, engraved paver for the Walkways of Wehr, a bench in the amphitheater, or even a small window (there are a few left) make lasting contributions to Wehr and a wonderful tribute to special people in your life.

Gift certificates for programs like Little Wonders and NatureNauts create wonderful memories and build social skills. Summer camp gift certificates are always a hit with the 5-13 year old crowd. A gift certificate to the Nature Store will let people find the right size, choose the right book, or a toy that sparks interest in nature discovery.

Watching my granddaughters have fun looking for their names in the renovated amphitheater gave me a new idea. This holiday season I'm starting a new tradition of letting our older nieces and nephews donate a paver in someone else's honor. It will be fun to see what they want to do with their pavers. Then they will not only get to find their own pavers when they visit the Center but they'll take pride in having given one for someone else as well. You might want to try this out with your relatives who really don't need anything – especially another crock pot.

For all those gifts you really do have to buy...shop at AmazonSmile and they will give back to Wehr Nature Center! Just switch your regular Amazon account to AmazonSmile-all the same shopping, shipping, etc.-even Prime. Pick Friends of Wehr as your charity. Amazon gives .05% of your purchases to WNC! And that will make us ALL smile!!

Pat Fojut, Director of Nature in the Parks, Retires

It's with a touch of sadness blended with excitement that we say, not "Good Bye", but "Wow, what are you going to do next?" to Pat Fojut, Wehr naturalist, Nature in the Parks Director, innovative co-worker, and cheerful friend as she retires after her 35 years of association with Wehr. Pat began as a volunteer in the '80s and was hired in 1986. She left in '92, earned her Master's degree, and returned to Wehr in 1995, working for Nature in the Parks and eventually becoming its Director.

Pat can recall the day her interest in nature was born. She and her father were hiking by the river in the "wild lands" around her parents' new home in Oak Creek when they were fascinated by a bird on the bank making strange sounds. Back at home she learned they had seen an upland sandpiper and from then on, she was hooked, always exploring tracks and trails and doing what her mother called, "wild research".

We all know Pat as the "Insect Lady", our go-to expert for insect identification and natural history. This passion also occurred as a pivotal moment for Pat when she signed up for a workshop at the UW Field Station in 1987. She and fellow nature lover, Barb Voelker, spent their days studying insects and their nights studying moths. "It was non-stop nature," says Pat. And in 1988, Pat began the Butterfly Count program which is still continuing at Wehr.

But Pat's heart belongs to the kids. She loves learning from the kids and says, "I like the way they think." She is proud to have started the Kid Expeditions summer camp, annual library programs, Sharon Wilson Center for the Arts summer programs, and fundraising events like Walkabout at Wehr, and Kids in the Parks. Her fundraising efforts have helped in no small measure to bolster Wehr Nature Center and keep Nature in the Parks alive. Pat, always looking forward, believes we need to grow by finding more ways to combine nature with the arts.

Pat says her favorite parts of her job have been the variety, seasonal changes, program changes, and the Nature Center people who are like a family. "They show respect for each other no matter what." In addition she says, "I have always found Wehr Nature Center to be a group of people who share purpose and problems so we really feel the community between staff, support staff, volunteer staff, and visitors. I am proud of the Wehr Nature Center for answering the question, "Why should we keep the Nature Center?" It is because we are a strong community connection for people of all ages and the Milwaukee County Parks."

The first order of business in retirement for Pat and husband John (already retired), is travel. In 2016 they plan to visit the Mexican roosting areas for the Monarch butterfly and visit more Wisconsin nature trails. But their first road trip will be to Davis, California to meet the newest Fojut grandchild. Plans for more travel are in the works, including more nature trips to Central America.

Pat says, "I have always found work and pleasure in nature exploring and I see no reason to stop now. I will be reinventing how I share nature with others, especially children, and keep on learning. I also look forward to continuing to help out at Wehr Nature Center but will take my time figuring this out. No rush."

-Karen Kerans

Turkey Tidbits

Be the turkey expert at your Thanksgiving feast! Share some of this turkey trivia at the dinner table and remember to give thanks for the Wild Turkeys.

Did you know...

-Wild Turkeys were extirpated from Wisconsin due to logging of oak forests and over hunting. The last turkey sighting was in 1881.

-The Department of Natural Resources released 29 wild turkeys from Missouri into Vernon County in 1976. The population grew and expanded and now wild turkeys are found in almost every county in Wisconsin.

-Male turkeys have beards on their breast made of a bristly mass of feathers

-Turkeys can run 25 mph and can soar up to 55 mph in short bursts of flight!

-Wild Turkeys repopulated Whitnall Park about five years ago, probably from populations in Waukesha County. It is now common to see flocks around the park

Turkey Talk

Turkeys have inspired some pretty unusual vocabulary.
Try using these words in your next game of Scrabble!

- •Wattle the fleshy growth that hangs underneath the chin
- •Snood the fleshy thing above and resting across a turkey's bill
- •Caruncle the warty looking growths on a male turkey's neck
- Poult a baby turkey
- •Gobbler an adult male turkey
- Jake an immature male turkey
- Jenny an immature female turkey
